Superhero: This nature-loving FSW superhero brings harmony, consistency, and a little bit of technology magic everywhere she goes. She powers through writer's block with the help of ChatGPT, and hopefully, that lands her more time at the beach and with her beloved pets. Can you guess?

This week's AI playground challenge is all about tackling one of the modern workplace's most time-consuming tasks: meetings. Let's face it, while meetings are essential for collaboration and decision-making, not everyone can attend every session, and who has the time to review hours of recordings? Enter the arena of AI-powered tools designed to summarize meetings to distill those lengthy discussions into digestible, actionable minutes. Share your discoveries! Is the AI sharp enough to capture the nuance of a brainstorming session? Can it highlight the action items without missing the beat? Test these tools in your next meeting and report back whether they're a game-changer or just hype.

AI Open Forum – Earning AI Badges

Thursday 3-21 at 4:00 pm

Zoom: Click Here to Register

Whether you're simply curious about AI or wanting to demonstrate your skill-building outside of the classroom, consider earning an AI Microcredential Badge within the FSW AI for Students Toolkit. This AI Open Forum session will familiarize you with the Toolkit and the badge requirements, as well as serve as an opportunity to talk about what skills will be needed in the workplace of the future. Faculty, staff, and student voices are welcome as we explore this opportunity and the many that lie ahead.
