

Study Abroad in Greece

Estimated Cost: $2,700.00

SPC 2608: Introduction to Public Speaking in Greece

Dr. Bill Kelvin (Lee campus or Live Flex) (Prerequisite: ENC 1101 with a "C" or better)

This course focuses on developing effective public speaking skills and transfers well to many universities. This Study Abroad section leverages its unique location to reinforce the history and value of oratory. At FSW's Lee Campus, students will ground themselves in speech writing and delivery. Then we will explore Greek sites linked to rhetorical traditions and encounter professionals who use public speaking on the job. Many interactive excursions will be social in nature, such as attending musical performances, touring galleries and giving speeches in ancient theatres. Major assignments will be designing and delivering informative, persuasive and impromptu presentations. Students will design their own speech topics centered on Greek culture, history and language. This course uses a free digital textbook developed by FSW professors including this course's instructor.

Course Dates: May 13—June 19, 2024

What's Included:

- Round trip airfare
- Accommodations
- Entrance tickets to excursions
- Breakfast daily
- International travel health insurance

Contact us for more information:

E-Mail: international.education@fsw.edu

Phone: 239-985-3417

In Person: Lee Campus I-114

Travel Dates: June 2 – June 14, 2024

What's Not Included:

- Tuition for FSW class
- Books
- Personal spending money
- Lunches and Dinners
- Visa (if needed by non-US passport holders)

Apply by Friday, March 1, 2024

www.fsw.edu/internationaleducation

Click "Apply Now to Study Abroad"

